A. Wynn This unique collection of essays examines the flow of African American music and musicians across the Atlantic to Europe from the time of slavery to the twentieth century. In a sweeping examination of different musical forms--spirituals, blues, jazz, skiffle, and orchestral music--the contributors consider the reception and influence of black music on a number of different European audiences, particularly in Britain, but also France, Germany, and the Netherlands. The essayists approach the subject through diverse historical, musicological, and philosophical perspectives. A number of essays document little-known performances and recordings of African American musicians in Europe. Several pieces, including one by Paul Oliver, focus on the appeal of the blues to British listeners. At the same time, these considerations often reveal the ambiguous nature of European responses to black music and in so doing add to our knowledge of transatlantic race relations.

Bach's music and its towering presence in our cultural memory
have long affected
how people hear his works. In his own time, however, Bach
stood as just another

number of composers,
many of them more popular with the music-loving public.
Eschewing the great
composer style of
music history,
Andrew Talle takes us
on a journey that looks at how ordinary people made music in Bach's Germany.
Talle focuses in particular on the culture of keyboard playing as lived in public and private. As he ranges through a wealth of documents,
instruments, diaries,
account ledgers, and
works of art, Talle
brings a fascinating
cast of characters to life. These individuals--amateur
and professional
performers, patrons,
instrument builders,
and
listeners--inhabited a lost world, and Talle's

deft expertise teases
out the diverse roles
music played in their lives and in their relationships with one another. At the same time, his nuanced
recreation of keyboard
playing's social milieu illuminates the era's reception of Bach's immortal works.

All but two are Jewish in content. A superbly talented composer and arranger, Zeitlin's career as a violinist, violist, conductor, and impresario began in St. Petersburg. There he became active in the Society for Jewish Folk Music, the catalyst for a brief but golden age of art music composed on Jewish themes. He subsequently taught and conducted in Ekaterinoslav and Vilna before emigrating in 1923 to New York, where he was a violist and arranger for the Capitol Theatre. The works date from all these periods of Zeitlin's career and are written for various combinations, instrumental and vocal. This edition describes Zeitlin and his milieu and includes historical and analytic discussions of each of the works. http://

Of the many brass bands that have flourished in Britain and Ireland over the last 200 years very few have documented records covering their history. This directory is an attempt to collect together information about such bands and make it available to all. Over 19,600 bands are recorded here, with some 10,600 additional cross references for alternative or previous names. This volume supersedes the earlier “British Brass Bands – a Historical Directory” (2016) and includes some 1,400 bands from the island of Ireland. A separate work is in preparation covering brass bands beyond the British Isles. A separate appendix lists the brass bands in each county
